

Sunshine

The world slowly awakes as it feels the warmth of sunlight touch its surface
The flowers stretch their faces towards the sky and dance in the gentle breeze
One by one people open their tired eyes, ready to start another day
Shadows begin to appear along the mountains, defining their shape and depth
The sunlight illuminates the beauty in the world and warms the souls of those it reaches